

Ok, so this is a little awkward for me to write, but I'm told I must compose something for the June bulletin, so here goes...

Before I go any further, I'll explain the reason for the sense of awkwardness I feel; I literally hate drawing attention to myself, and yet, at first glance, that's what it might look like I'm trying to do.

Let me clarify: as I near the end of my tenure as Riverside's Lead Pastor, I've been thinking a lot about my legacy. In other words, what have I invested in others' lives?, what will I be remembered for?, you know, those types of musings.

Anyway, I came upon a thought, which was also fuelled somewhat by our recent study of Paul's letters to the Church in Thessalonica-if I were to have the chance to give one final message to these people I care so deeply about, what would that message be?

The result is our next series: Reflections.

And it's actually not one single message, it's a month-long series. But the heart behind it is exactly the same!

This series is a compilation of my life and pastoral journey with the Lord, the things I most treasure, the mistakes I've made, the lessons I've learned, the things I want most to underline and deposit in the lives of you, my beloved Church.

Therein lies the rub: because it comes from my life's experience, I fear a little that it might come across as somewhat egocentric.

So, here's what I'm proposing: if you can allow me the grace to share my reflections, I'll do my best to continuously point you to Jesus.

Deal?

I'd be honoured if you'd join me as I share the most important understandings I've discovered about faith, trust, and friendship with Jesus throughout the month of June.
